

springtime again

by mazaher
april 2016

::

As I watch grains of dust on the window
on an April morning
in the hard light
I listen to my blood than never ceased flowing
I think of my heart that never stopped beating
I contemplate time
and the inevitability of spiders.

::

::

::

